or PreK (& Caregivers)

Artsy Smartsy!

An arts-based early literacy program created exclusively for children ages 3-6 and their caregivers. This is intended to be a once-a-month program from September to May, but can be offered on a trial basis or shortened to fit your budget. Here's the line-up for the 2011-2012 school year...

Artsy Smartsy Art-o-Rama! (based on artists & artistic styles)

Early Art...and Dinosaurs, too ☺

Cave paintings, dinosaurs, Venus, oh my! Okay, I know dinosaurs weren't around at the same time humans were, but with the popularity of dinosaurs, I had to sneak them in (heehee). We'll play with chalk, clay and texture in this fun kickoff to Artsy Smartsy!

Renaissance

What's a relief?! What's a triptych?! I'll explain it all as we scratch the surface of one of the most creative times in history. Da Vinci will be there!

What's Your Impression? (watercolor version)

Experience the softer side of Impressionism as we paint with watercolors, inspired by Claude Monet, Edgar Degas and more.

What's Your Impression? (tempera version)

Textured paint, printmaking and painting with dots ala Seurat – we'll take a look at some great Impressionist artists and make bold impressions of our very own.

Go, Go Van Gogh!

The stars will be shining bright as we explore mixed media and give a nod to Vincent Van Gogh and Post Impressionism.

Playing with Picasso!

Explore color and emotion as we delve into Picasso's Blue Period and create Cubist murals where the children become the stars of the artwork.

Wild & Wacky 2-D

Straight lines, blocks of color, accidental painting, pure nonsense – this is abstract art at its very best!

Wild & Wacky 3-D

Molding and carving and balance all come into play in this fun exploration of modernism!

Pollack and a Plethora of Printmaking

Weather permitting, we'll explore Pollack-style painting with splatter art, hand painting and fly swatter painting. If forced indoors, we'll tone it down a tad with produce prints, marble painting and straw painting. It's all about painting in an unusual way!

For Teens & Adults

Artist Playdates!

Participants gather together to make artwork, share ideas (and eat snacks!) in a community setting. A common starting point is provided – from there, it's up to each creative individual to decide how to use the supplies at hand. Here is a list of some recent programs:

Bottlecap Inchies

1 inch round works of art – eensy weensy masterpieces!

Coin Holder Twinchies

2 inch square artwork with a window!

Artist Trading Cards

artwork the size of playing cards made to be traded!

ever thought of writing a children's book? here's one way to do it!

Altered Book Journal

from hardcover book to art journal – voila!

Emoticonheads

non-traditional sculpture resulting in a blockhead of a figure?

Metal Box Assemblage

metal box + doodads + art supplies = ?

I can also facilitate multiple-session playdates focusing on a particular medium, such as book arts, collage, drawing, etc.

For Parents

Upcycled Bookmaking for Parents of Preschoolers

in a nutshell, making books from recyclables and throwaways
